

Citizens for a Safe & Clean Lake Superior and Ore Dock Brewing Co. present:

SUPERIOR ON TAP

Moose, Wolves, and Citizen Science

with Karen Bacula

Volunteer Coordinator - Isle Royale Moose/Wolf Study, retired educator, and Board Member of Citizens for Superior

Jane Goodall 1934-2025

Moosewatch

Citizen Science supporting the Wolf/Moose Study at Isle Royale National Park

Welcome!

- ' Introduction
- ' What is Citizen Science?
- ' What is Moosewatch?
- ' What it is like to be a Moosewatch Volunteer
- ' What is being learned from the data that is collected?
- ' How can you apply to become a Moosewatch Volunteer?
- ' Questions

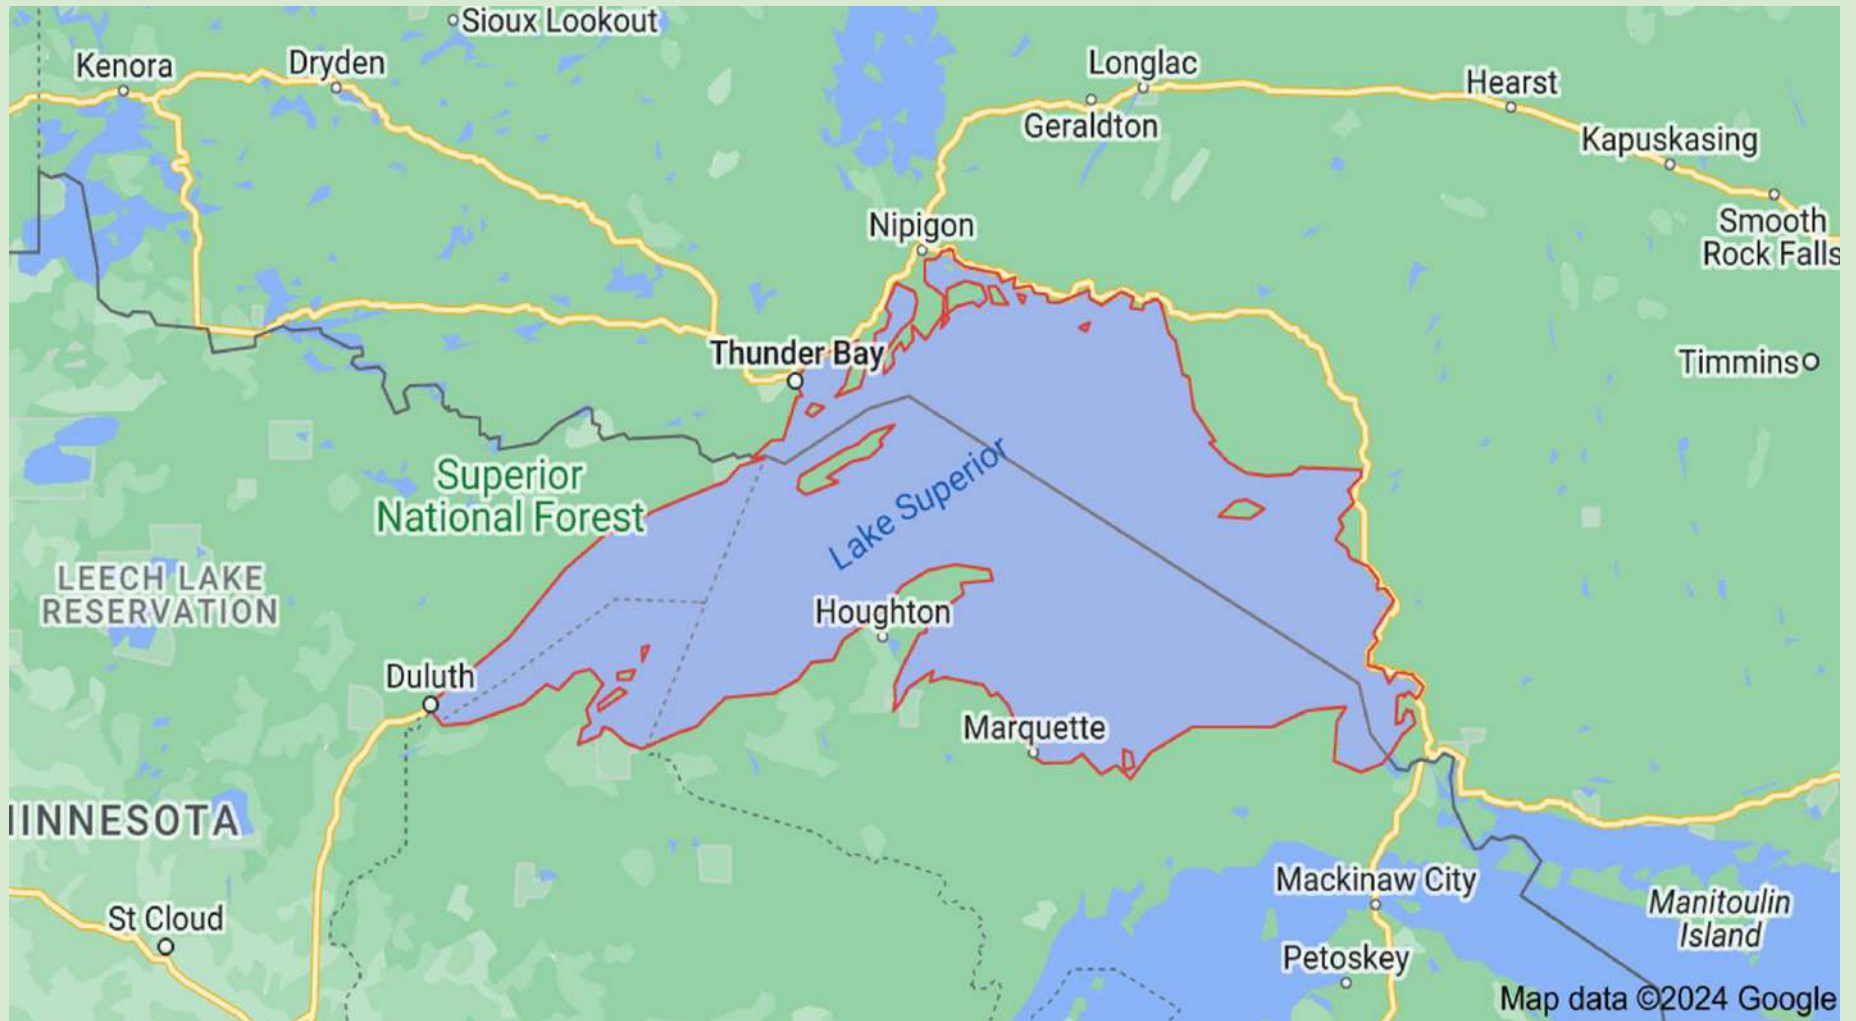

Citizen Science

Citizen science is when members of the public voluntarily help professional scientists to conduct scientific research.

(“What is Citizen Science, National Park Service.”)

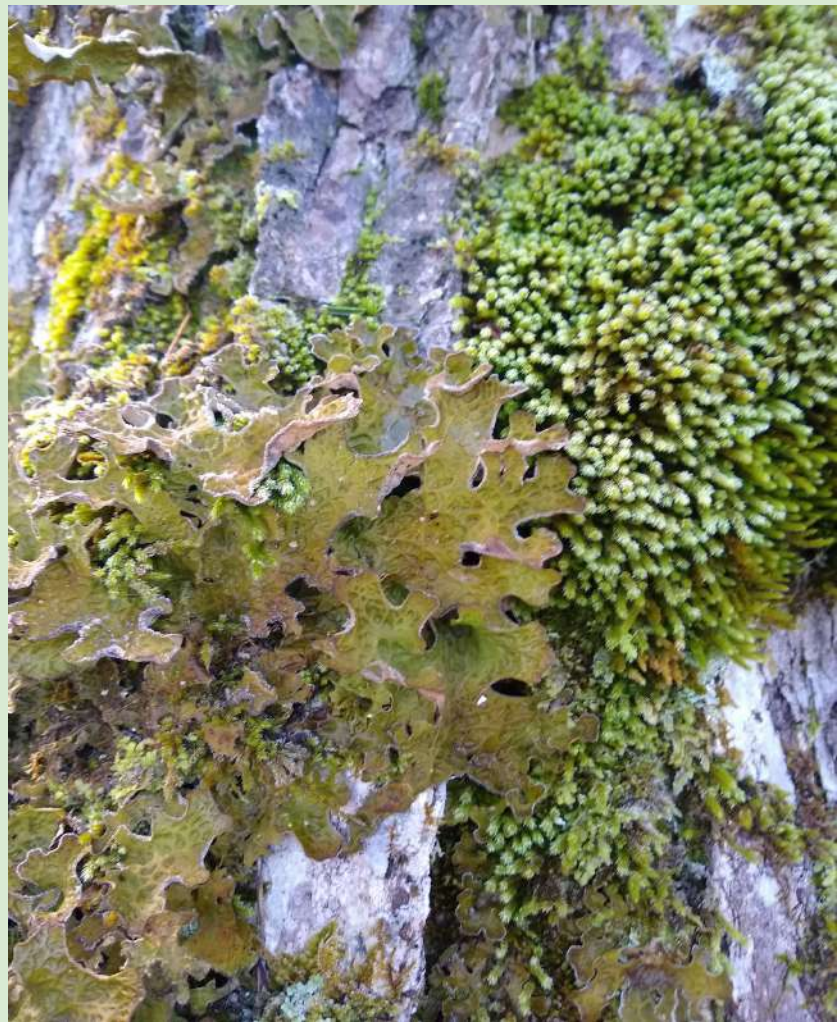

WS

Team-1
2022

Wayne Shannon

May 14-22

3

people (2x per number). Record all digits shown on caliper.

This will total to 4 measurements per number for, measurement, etc.

5310

*Stand up on the line you don't see from these cameras. We are trying to automate the landing with our camera system. Right. This is not a performance that I want to include images. We are not allowed to have under the line with your right you are not allowed to do it.

© 2015 National Geographic Society. All rights reserved.

To learn more about the moose and wolves of Isle Royale go to www.isleroyalewolf.org

You'll find the annual reports here from this and previous years' studies.

Learn more about Moosewatch, Moosewatch for Educators and how to apply to volunteer.

To help support the Wolf-Moose Project go to www.wolfmoosefoundation.org

Get involved somewhere! Be a citizen scientist!

Thank you for coming!

SUPERIOR ON TAP

Moose, Wolves, and Citizen Science

with Karen Bacula

Volunteer Coordinator - Isle Royale Moose/Wolf Study, retired educator, and Board Member of Citizens for Superior

